Randall County Places Second in the Dallas State Fair, Missing First by Small Margin—Was First Last Year

W. H. Upchurch Makes State Record With Continuous Winnings of Exhibits from Randall County——West Texas Counties Take Most of Prizes at Dallas Fair.

The Randall County Agricultural Exhibit took second place at the State Fair of Texas at Dallas, according to information received yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce, from County Agent W. H. Upchurch.

Eastland county won first place over Randall county by a margin of eight-tenths of a point. The Eastland county score was 952.3 while the score of Randall county was 951.5. Another whole point would have placed Randall county in the lead.

A noticeable feature of the winnings at the State Fair was that five of the six high counties were from West Texas and four of the five were Panhandle counties. Hartley was third, Hemphill fifth, and Wheeler sixth.

At no time in recent years has a county won first place for two years in succession at the State Fair. County Agent Upchurch has established for himself a record which is outstanding. He has won first place for Randall county at the Tri-State Fair for four consecutive years and has never gone below third place in eight years of showing at the State Fair of Texas. He placed first with the Randall County exhibit last year at Dallas.

Citizens over the city were rejoicing over the successful showing of Mr. Upchurch with the county exhibit at the State Fair late Wednesday. The directors of the Chamber of Commerce wired congratulations, as did the Randall County Dairyman's Association.

There were 55 counties competing for first honors. Randall county's exhibit scor d perfect on decoration and arrangement and perfect on alfalfa. A small attendance is reported at the Fair. In a wire received this morning, Mr. Upchurch said: "Sorry we could not be first, but did our best."

Chamber Commerce Election October 22 With Banquet Later

A business meeting of all members of the Chamber of Commerce will be held on Thursday night, October 22, for the purpose of electing officers for another year, it was announced Wednesday afternoon, by the Chamber of Commerce secretary. It was stated that the business meeting and election were moved up to the 22nd in order that all business might be closed by the present board of directors and be ready for the new officers to assume charge beginning November 1, at which time the Chamber of Commerce books for the current year are closed.

A banquet is being planned for a later date, probably the first week in November. Officers of tthe Chamber of Commerce have pointed out that if a banquet is held during the first week of next month, that a gala affair can be made of it. This will mark the inauguration of the new officers and board of directors. Also, on November 3, Canyon will celebrate her silver anniversary. It was on November 3, 1906 that the frist city election was held in Canyon for the purpose of electing officers to manage the affairs of the newly incorporated city. The election for the purpose of incorporating the city of Canyon was held on September 29, 1906. Then on November 8, the first city council meeting was held.

Chamber of Commerce officials also stated that several other important matters can be brought about in connection with the banquet if it is held early in November. It is expected that President Byrle Elliston will appoint a committee to look into the matter of arranging for the banquet within the next few days. At the recent meeting of the board of directors of the organization it was decided to hold the election at a date before November 1 and October 22 was voted as the date for the election. Every active member of the Chamber of Commerce is urged to be present for the election.

The reduction extended to all members of the city commission and every person on the city's pay roll, and amounts to more than ten percent. The total reduction will save the city $144 per month in operating expenses.

Mayor Bellah stated that no complaint had been filed by citizens asking for this reduction, but the commission believed it good policy to reduce operating expenses and all employees were agreeable to the reduction.

REV. HUDSON SPEAKS AT COLLEGE ASSEMBLY

Rev. L. R. Hudson was speaker at the College Assembly Tuesday morning. Mr. Hudson named his talk "The Siamese Twins of Character Building." The idea which he developed was that character building in education has always been the joint task of the church and the school and that a separation of the two is bad for both.

In closing the speaker made a local application of his idea by suggesting that all students enroll in the Sunday Schools of Canyon, thus giving themselves a maximum opportunity for character growth while in college.

PALO DURO OUTING CLUB HOLDS FROLIC

The Palo Duro Outing Club held its first frolic Tuesday with about 80 going on the trip to Palo Duro Park.

Rain of Week Gives Farmers Chance to Start Wheat Planting

Rain amounting to .45 of an inch fell on Saturday and Sunday. The moisture of Saturday amounted to .40 of an inch and was followed by colder weather and a heavy mist Sunday which almost amounted to rain.

This moisture is the first that has fallen since Sept. 19th. Wheat farmers have been discouraged over the lack of moisture this fall, and while the rain of this week is not as much as needed, most of the farmers will start planting their crop.

Kid Nations To Start College Riding Class

A new department in physical education will be tried out at the college this year if there are enough people interested in it to make it go, according to Mrs. Travis Shaw head of the department of physical education for women. If the plan succeeds it will enable Kid Nations to finance his way through college.

Nations wants to establish a riding school here. He has a string of paint horses, secured from Leonard Stroud's rodeo. He has had two years of training in horsmanship under Dr. George P. Grout of Panhandle. English saddles will be used.

Besides the recreation, pupils will be taught correct posture, care of horses, the different gaits, jumping and other things necessary to real horsemanship

Nations proposes to charge $9.00 per month for an hour an a half every other day or $12.00 per month for an hour a day. Twenty people will have to enroll to ensure the success of the class.

The horses which Nations will bring to Canyon can be used by townspeople and faculty as well as students, and when not in use by persons taking the work regularly may be had for hire.

Santa Fe Starts Freight Delivery to Business Men

The free delivery feature will apply to practically all of the small freight shipments that are received and forwarded from the business section of Canyon. C. A. Higdon, who handles the express will also handle the freight.

ATTEND DEAN'S MEETING.

Mrs. Geraldine Green will attend a meeting of the program committee of the Dean of Women's section of the State Teachers Association in Amarillo soon. This section will hold one of its meetings in Canyon as guests of the College.

Citizens of Canyon Advise Commission of City Not to Start Legal Action Regarding Rates Charged by the Utilities

Meeting Thursday Night of Citizens and Members of City Commission Discuss at Length State of Affairs as to Rates and Small Changes of Wining Fight if Case Taken Into the Courts.

A number of Canyon business men met Thursday night with the City Commision for the purpose of discussing the problems which confronted the commission, especially as regards to the utilities rates and the demands on the part of some citizens that the city commission become active in lowering these rates.

After hearing a report from Mayor R. A. Bellah and City Clerk Harvey Cash of the work of the city commission during the past nine months, those present decided that everything possible which could be done had been undertaken by the city commission. The business men advised against the city employing an attorney and rushing into court to attempt to get lower rates, pointing out the fact that Fort Worth had spent $18,000 in fighting gas rates and so far nothing had resulted from the suits. The customers had not benefitted, as the utilities company posted bonds and continued to charge the same rates as were in effect before the suits were filed.

Await Lubbock and McLean.

The city commissions of McLean and Lubbock are attempting to lower rates by ordinances, and those present Thursday night advised the city officials to await the results of these suits, as nothing could be gained by passing ordinances if the same could not be upheld in the courts. It was reported that an attorney had asked the Canyon officials for a fee of $1,800 before court action was started, and there was no way to estimate the total costs which might result to the city if the cases were taken into the courts.

In regard to the water rates, which are in the hands of the city commission, the business men advised against lowering the rates at the present time. If the water rates were lowered, it would mean higher taxes, as the city plant is selfsustaining, and all of the improvements on the plant are paid out of the revenues of the water plant. Those towns on the plains which have lower water rates have both higher tax rates and sewer charges. Canyon has boasted of its low tax rate for many years, and the commission was advised against increasing the tax rates at the present time.

It was further pointed out that all repairs made on the sewer plant is paid out of the water fund, rather than the general fund. Just recently it was necessary to spend $1,000 repairing the sewer plant, and had this money been taken out of the general fund it would have caused an increase in the tax rate.

The greatest agitation in Canyon now seems to be over the rate on natural gas. It was pointed out that the decrease in the rates recently announced by the company means a saving to Canyon of approximately $1,000 per month for the five winter months. This is based upon the consumption of last year, and would mean $5,000 less fuel bill for this winter than for last year. The saving should be of considerable assistance to the people of the city.

Much of the agitation on the gas rate is due to activities of cities much larger than Canyon, especially those operating under a special charter. Canyon is incorporated under the general laws of Texas, and the gas rates are under the supervision of the Railroad Commission, through its division on Natural Gas. Therefore the hands of the city commission are tied so far as originating rates are concerned.

History of Gas Fight.

The history of the movement to procure reduced rates on gas was outlined by Mr. Cash. On Feb. 21st of this year the mayor of Lubbock and representatives of other towns called a meeting at Lubbock to see what steps could be taken by the various cities to get lower rates. Canyon was represented at this meeting by City Commissioners Oldham and Jarret. Plans were laid at this meeting to perfect an organization whereby all the cities serviced by the West Texas Gas Company could cooperate in an effort to secure cheaper gas. Another meeting was held a week later, attended by Mayor Bellah. The outcome was the organization of the West Texas Municipal Association, Canyon becoming a member. The officers of this association are:

Leon Goodman, Midland, president; J. J. Clements, mayor of Lubbock, 1st vice president; J. B. Caldwell, mayor of Plainview, 2nd vice president; E. S. Ireland, mayor of Hereford, 3rd vce president. All of these men had been enthusiastic and tireless in their efforts to get lower utilities rates.

The West Texas organization, working with the Texas Municipal League, was successful in getting a bill through the legislature appropriating several thousand dollars to investigate the corporations that are selling gas to the cities of the state.

West Texas Organizes.

Again in July at the meeting of the Texas Municipal League at Lubbock, Canyon was represented by Harvey Cash. The last of September about 350 delegates from cities of Texas met in Fort Worth to make further investigation of ways and means to solve the gas rate problem. Representatives of the railroad commission stated to the delegates that investigations were being made as rapidly as possible. They were advised to be patient and reasonable, as it would take time to get all of the information.

In the meanwhile the West Texas Municipal Association, through its officers had employed J. M. Cald-

Commissioners Instruct Judge as to Giving Help

At the meeting of the Commissioners' Court Monday, the County Judge was advised to make a careful check on people who are at work now while work is plentiful, and he was instructed to announce publicly that those who do not work now cannot expect aid from the county later in the winter.

Pastors of Canyon Praise Work Done in S. S. Campaign

We, the pastors of the churches of Canyon, cooperating in the campaign for the increase of the Sunday School enrollment and attendance, wish to call attention of the people again to this movement. The response to date has been very gratifying. However, the possibilities of the movement are yet tremendous. Less than half the citizenship of our city are enrolled in Sunday School and approximately one-fourth are in regular attendance. These things should challenge and stir our citizenship to action, for the influence of the educational program of the church will be about as great as the influence of our citizens. We appeal to you to rally to the churches that the young of our city may know that we are really concerned about the things of the spirit.

We wish to commend the laymen of the community for their insight and devotion in starting the movement. Such consecration cannot but yield great dividends for character building if people in any great numbers respond to their appeal.

We earnestly urge the leaders in the business and professional world to follow the lead of these who have begun so noble a work. We would urge upon you that the educational program of the church is as much a public enterprise as the educational program of the community. If every business and professional man in our community should align himself with the Sunday Schools the effect would be little short of electric. Your responsibility is evident and we appeal to you to "follow through" beginning next Sunday.

Sincerely yours,
REV. C. E. JAMESON,
Rev. W. C. KUNZE,
REV. C. G. HOWARD,

WHY NOT BE FAIR TO THE UTILITIES?

(The following article was in the Odessa News-Times by Ralph Shuffler, editor. The article is reprinted in order to gives the readers of The News a chance to read what other newspapers were saying on the subject of utilities rates).

In solemn conclave assembled the latter part of the week in Ft. Worth, mayors and others from many West Texas towns in a group passed a resolution which to the News-Times seems the most unjust and unfair thing we have encountered in years. Following is the verbatum report as it appeared in Saturday's Star-Telegram:

"While the Texas Railroad Commission is investigating gate rates charged by the pipe line companies beginning with those of the Lone Star Gas Company cities of Texas are urged by a resolution adopted at the gas meeting of the Texas League of Municipalities at The Texas yesterday to pass ordinances arbitrarily lowering existing consumer rates without investigations to determine their fairness.

"The purpose of the motion offered by Mayor Ernest O. Thompson, Amarillo, as explained by J. Bouldin Rector, city attorney of Austin, and president of the league, is to swamp the utilities with litigation forcing them to compromise and give consumers the benefit of lower rates this winter pending settlement of the rate controversies."

The News-Times holds no brief for the Gas Companies of the Southwest—is not on their payroll—owes them nothing—and is not arguing as to whether or not gat rates to the consumer are too high. The News-Times does not know. It will not, however, countenance a proposition urging city councils over the State to "pass ordinances arbitrarily lowering rates without investigation to determine their fairness."

Public utilities are entitled to a square deal just as any individual or any corporation is entitled to a square deal. It is possible that in some instances rates for the services rendered by our gas, electric, telephone, and other utilities are too high. The only way to determine that fact is by a survey of the properties investment, the operating expense and the net revenue of such companies in each particular instance. That can be done, and until that IS done, no city has a right to demand lower rates or to pass local legislation which arbitrarily lowers the rates without regard to their justness or fairness.

The method outlined above by Texas Municipalities League to my mind is comparable to blackmail. The big idea seems to be to either force the reduction in rates or tie the gas company up in so much litigation that it will cost them more than the reduction or rates would amount to. I'm glad that my home city didn't become a party to such unfair and unjust action.

I have been engaged in a public business for many years and have taken an active part in community development projects of every kind all during that time. I have yet to find any utility company in any town where I have been that did not carry on its part of the community load in taxes, in support of the chamber of commerce, in donations to charities or to any other particular you can mention. Not only do they DO their part, they do it cheerfully, willingly and wholeheartedly. I have never gone to them with a reasonable request that was not considered and granted. These same utilities have done more for my town than any other class of business, and they are doing it today.

Odessa would be only a wide place in the road, and on a bad road at that, today, if it were not for the building activities stimulated solely by our utilities. The T. & P. Railroad, the Texas Electric Service Company, the West Texas Gas Company, the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, the Western Union Telegraph Company—take these away from Odessa and there wouldn't be much left.

I hold to the opinion that these utilities are entitled to a fair return on the investments they have in Odessa and Ector county. As a matter of fact I doubt if they are getting that under existing rates. I don't think Odessa is any worse off than the majority of towns represented at the Fort Worth meeting, and I believe the same thing will apply to most all of them.

I want to see industry and commerce prosper in West Texas. I want our gas company to make money along with the balance of us. I'm going to stand flatly for a square deal for the public utility as well as the private individual. I'm in favor of paying for service rendered, whether it be gas or soap grease. When I find beyond a doubt that the rate is too high, I'll be strong in the demand that it be lowered, but once again, I'm strictly opposed to the passing of ordinances here or elsewhere to "arbitrarialy lower rates without investigation as to their fairness."

The call for cotton pickers and for farm hands is many, and the response is few. The situation is simply this: there are too many men walking the streets unemployed who expect to have the counties feed them this winter who will not do the labor that there is to do, and will not accept the wage which the farmers are able to pay under existing condition. Those who will not work deserve no sympathy. There is no man to whom the world owes a living, if he is unwilling to labor for his daily bread. No community in the United States should be willing to feed those this winter who are today refusing to work at prevailing prices. There is not a business firm or a professional man who is making money, yet there are many who believe that this class should willingly tax themselves, and their meagre earnings that the unwilling laborer should walk the streets and make demands for high wages in times when there are no calls for high priced labor. No worthy family which is doing its best will suffer this winter, but the man who refuses to work now while there is work to be done will likely find himself in the middle of a bad fix this winter.

It is likely that the impeachment trial of Judge Price will be concluded in the Texas senate by today or tomorrow. It is a matter of regret that Judge Price should have been the victim of his friends, but this is always the case—we are usually alert to our enemies, but our so-called friends too often take advantage of our trust. No matter what the result of the trial may be, Texas has saved millions of dollars on account of the investigation, and it will mean in the long-run the abolishment of the antiquated fee system. A nearby district judge told the writer Friday that it had been a sufficient warning to him to be more careful in the matter of approving fee bills of his sheriffs, and that he had cut out many dollars which seemed to be an unjust charge.

Prohibition seems to be looming again on the national horizon as the stumbling block for the Democratic party. The Democrats would have won the last national election, had not the prohibition question been injected. The Democratic party will win an easy victory in 1932 if the leaders have sense enough to keep this question out of the lead. However, the Republicans have the faculty of being able to get the Democrats in a wrangle whenever they are in dire distress, and face defeat, and it begins to look like this would be the case again in the coming election.

The suggestion is made that the 252 counties of Texas shall be united into about fifty counties. The idea is a good one, and is entirely workable. Were it not for the local pride that exists there is absolutely no reason why it could not be put into effect. There is no reason why every small county in Texas should be operated at its present high cost, except that we just like small units of government. Perhaps the enlarged county idea will become effective a thousand years hence, when we forget local pride and demand more efficiency in our local government.

Amarillo has asked the citizens to stop feeding beggars and giving to beggars. The News has pointed out time and time again that the Associated Charities of the cities have discovered years ago that fully 90 percent of the street beggars are unworthy. They are in the business because it is an easy way to live. They can make good wages at the profession of begging. There is only one way to handle beggars—through some authorized agency, and that agency should take plenty of time to investigate all cases before handing out help to beggars.

The first breath of winter has hit the Plains. Of course this does not mean that we are in for a long, hard session of cold weather, but it is a warning that every home owner should carefully look over his premises and make sure that all fire risks are removed before it becomes necessary to have a fire all of the time. Fire is an expensive thing. The property owner always has to stand one-fourth or more of the actual loss. Inspect your premises now.

Pampa city officials have issued the warning that the city's idle shall either go to the cotton patch or go to jail. Furthermore, those who are idle now need expect no charity this winter. Those who refuse to work now will not be fed this winter. Practically every town on the Plains has issued the same warning.

President Hoover proposes a plan to liquidate the frozen assets of the county. That is what is the matter with the country at the present time—too much money invested in things which are not bringing returns to the owners. Just how the plan would work is a matter for higher financiers to work out. It will be a great blessing to the country as a whole if the President can devise a workable plan.

THE POWER IS ON!

Just turn the switch or push the button and power is on. Constantly and with assurance, electrical power from Texas Utilities is used each day for a multiplicity of things. It may be to light the smallest bulb in the city or turn the wheels of the largest motor, or again, a sewing machine or electric sweeper, but always and in the same strength, the power is there to perform the task. Every individual connected with the Texas Utilities is schooled to perform his task with accuracy and precision. Every person is trained to perform his task economically. "HIDDEN QUART"

. . . . . that Stays Up in Your Motor and Never Drains Away

Almost half of all motor wear takes place while you're starting your car! And it's in the starting period that oils not germ processed fail to protect your motor. They lubricate your motor after it starts . . . but they drain away when your car is idle, leaving vital working parts unlubricated while you're starting.

Germ Processed Oil gives you safe lubrication not only after your motor starts but during the starting period! For only Germ Processed Oil has penetrative lubricity . . . the ability to cling to, penetrate and combine with metal surfaces. A "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil stays up in your motor and never drains away. It cuts down starting wear and makes starting easier and quicker. Save your motor from wear . . . COUNTY TAX ROLLS ARE COMPLETE AFTER DELAY

The tax rolls for Randall county were completed yesterday by Burney Slack, tax assessor.

The rolls are late this year owing to the fact that the state tax rate was not set by the state automatic tax board until two weeks ago, whereas the rate should have been set in July.

The larger counties of the state will not have their tax rolls completed for some time.

Famous Artists Secured for Annual Program Sponsored by E. F. Myers

From the standpoint of entertainment, Amarillo and Panhandle music lovers and patrons of the stage can look forward this winter to one of the most delightful seasons in the history of the Amarillo Artist Course.

For years Prof. Emil F. Myers, director of the Amarillo College of Music, has sponsored the appearance of the world's most talented entertainers. That he believes in the city's capacity to support such attractions is amply demonstrated by the great array of artists he has secured for the approaching season. It is a list, say prominent musicians from all over the Panhandle, which any section of the country will be glad to boast.

"Darling of Brussels."

The season will open on Monday, Oct. 26, featuring Mme. Clare Clairbert, who is known as the "darling of the Royal Opera" in Brussels, Belgium. This famous opera house of great traditions is the theater in which Melba, Sembrich, Nordica and many other noted singers made their first appearances. Mme. Clairbert has been the leading coloratura soprano in this opera for five seasons. With youth, great personal beauty, gorgeous clothes and a fascinating personality, she is destined to be an American favorite, say those who are familiar with the opera.

On November 20 comes that world renowned contralto, Katheryn Meisle, known to millions thru her broadcasting over the Atwater Kent hour. Meisle is the leading contralto of the Chicago Opera, the San Francisco Opera and the Los Angeles Opera, and is an American concert favorite. Hers is considered the most pleasing voice of the day. She is a young captivating person. Her success in Germany last season was phenomel.

Aristocrat of the Violin.

The third number of the series brings that aristocrat of the violin, Albert Spalding. He is an artist of whom all America can well be proud. He has scaled the heights of success and comes at the very maturity of his powers as a player. He has appeared in Amarillo on former concerts.

The Abbey Theater Irish Players a distinguished group, headed by Lennox Robinson, appear on the 15th of February. The play they will present lends variety and interest to the course. Every actor and actress in the cast has an excellent reputation both in Europe and America, and their performances have a unity unsuprassed.

Doris Kenyon, the former motion picture acrtess and widow of Milton Sills, will appear here on March 17th. She has millions of admirers, but few of them know that she is one of the finest recitalists of this age. Her songs, which she interprets in costume, are reminscent of the art of the greatest masters, and European critics have compared her to the famed Yvette Guilbert. The wardrobe she will wear cost more than $20,000.00 and her costumes are said to be the last word in chic.

Tickets Are on Sale.

Closing the series is Harold Kreutzberg. Accompanying him will be three beautiful girls. He represents all schools of the dance. Since the death of Pavlova, he stands as the most interesting dancer of the day. The Literary Digest recently devoted considerable space to the work of this creative artist, whose character dances range from the classic to the modern—from the poetry of motion to the absurdities of long winded after dinner speakers.

In keeping with the trend of the times, season tickets are being offered for these six performances at a reduction of approximately a third of last year's prices.

Mr. Myers believes it to be the most attractive series he has ever sponsored. The tickets sale now far excells that of former years at this time. Reservations are being made at the Amarillo College of Music.

Anyone desiring season tickets for the course may obtain them in Canyon at the News office Saturday afternoon, October 17th, as representatives of the course will be in Canyon from 1:00 o'clock to 6:00 o'clock.

REGISTRAR SHIRLEY TO GO TO WACO SOON

Registrar D. A. Shirley will go to Waco, October 29 for the regular meeting of the Texas Branch of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars which takes place there on October 30-31.

Mr. Shirley is president of the Texas Branch. Mrs. Louise E. Perkins of Brownsville Junior College is vice-president and L. H. Kidd, Registrar of Southwest Texas State Teachers College is secretary.

ALBERT SPAULDING

America's most noted violinist who is scheduled to give a recital in Amarillo on the night of January 22.

KATHRYN MEISLE

Thousands in the Panhandle know the pleasing contralto voice of Kathryn Meisle from her many broadcasts over the Atwater Kent Hour. This popular American artist will be in Amarillo on November 20 to present the second number of the Amarillo Artist Course.

Mrs. T. B. Atkins and Miss Lucille Stallings of Amarillo visited Tuesday in the home of Mrs. R. W. Ratcliff.

J. D. Parker of Amarillo transacted business in Canyon Tuesday.

Miss Gladys Beavers spent the week end with her parents in Plainview and while there was honoree at a surprise birthday party given by her mother.

Seniors of '31

W. T. S. T. C. has enrolled quite a number of the '31 class of Canyon High. Those attending W. T. are: Elizabeth Faulkner, Florine Bowman, Marie Tanner, Dixie Foster, Irene Hicks, Louise Solomon, Bettye Sternenberg, Broughton Harden, Melva Gamewell, Nancy Strain, Hosea Foster, Sybil Gidden, Mildred Middleton, M. E. Cleavenger, Mary Orton, Herbert Slack, Charline Wiseman, Elizabeth Herndon, James Cabe, Lucile Davault, Jimmy Gamewell, Amogene Fowler, Pauline Mayben, Katherine Bryant, Lee Richardson, Jessie MacDonald, Maudeana Bishop, Oressa Hastings, Ann Johnson, Bib Jameson, Freda Gill.

Students of Canyon High are indeed fortunate to have a college in their home town that will enable many to secure an education they would otherwise have to forego.

Homecoming for C. H. S. Exes Will Be Friday

The feature of the next homecoming for the C. H. S. ex-students will be the conference game with the Tulia Hornets which will be played next Friday afternoon, October 15, at the Buffalo Stadium.

The Hornets have begun very badly this season and yet their recent victory over Dimmitt by the score of 20-0 shows that the game will be worth seeing.

The Eagles have won both conference games they have played. Happy downed the Hornets in an early season game.

After the game the ex-students will hold their annual homecoming banquet.

THOMPSON DONATES COVERS

Mr. T. C. Thompson of the Thompson Hardware Company has supplied the high school and grade school with book covers this year.

Last year the students had to buy their book covers, and as it took 4,000 covers to start the school off with, this donation was greatly appreciated by everyone of the students.

THE MUSIC CLUB.

The music club met in regular session Monday. The program was in charge of Lilla Beth Burroughs, who read a short sketch of Franz Schuber's life. Mrs. Foster then played his "Serenade."

Mrs. Foster added to the program by reading another sketch of Schubert's life.

Sunday, October 11, Misses Ada V. and Grace Clark had as dinner guests, Miss Mattie Jordan and Miss Jewell Foster.

Essay and Poster Contest Is Held During Past Week

Last week every student in the English department of Canyon High school wrote an essay on "Why Public School Students Should Attend Sunday School," and the grade school pupils made posters on that subject. The student who writes the best essay will receive a prize of $5.00 and have the essay printed in the Canyon News. The best poster will win $1.00.

The object of the essays and posters is to encourage students of the public schools to enroll in Sunday School. The winning essay and poster should tell or show why it is important to go to Sunday School every Sunday.

Some very good work has been done on this contest and the persons who win are entitled to what they receive for the time and effort they spent in earning it.

VARIOUS KINDS OF HAIR DRESSES SHOWN HERE

Have you ever noticed the varieties of hair dresses in Canyon High? Every Monday morning they are glorious, but alas! by Friday they have nearly all changed to fuzzy permanents or stringy straight hair.

Most of the girls seem to favor small waves pushed straight back of the ears. Verline Furlow, Louise Wester, and Virginia Lee Bull are really doing theirs up. Freshmen seem to favor the short French style or bangs and shingle.

Marcels are worn by Anyce Myers and Martha Decker. Evelyn Boyce employs the crooked part. Katye B. Lowe exhibits a low pullback part with small wave. Celestime McGee indulges in a scandal bob. (The last two statements are only true in dry weather.)

The boys as a whole pomp their hair straight back. A few favor side parts and one or two middle parts are observed. Some evidently let nature take its course.

To say the least there is a great deal of difference in the modes of hair dressing in Canyon high.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE? Yet the Same Old Howl

This time last year we were lamenting over the fact that we had no crops. Our fields were burned and barren, it was a pitiable sight, something that had never happened in the history of this country before, and then this year, the finest crops this section has ever known. Many farmers will have sufficent feed to run them two years. Many of them say that they have a bale per acre of cotton on their land, there is a good watermelon crop being harvested now. Lots of peas, beans, corn and garden products made. In fact everything that was planted is making good, yet it looks as though the most of us are more dissatisfied than we were last year. We are funny creatures anyway. It's either too hot, or it's too cold. It's too dry or it's too wet, not enough crops or too much crops, and it's this and that, month in and month out, throughout the years.—Turkey Enterprise.

Ex-Student Plan Banquet For The Homecoming Game

The plans for the annual ex-student banquet were completed at a mass meeting of the Canyon High Exes Monday night at the High School Auditorium.

The banquet is to be held next Monday night, October 19th. An effort is being made to get as many of the addresses of the ex-students as possible in order that the invitations may be sent out. Reservations can be made at G. G. Foster's Real estate office north of the Post Office. Ben Guill, who is now teaching in the Panhandle Public Schools, was appointed toastmaster, and the officers for the coming year will be chosen at the banquet, a nomination committee having been designated.

The ex-students organized last year and a very succesful banquet was held after the traditional football game with Hereford. At the last banquet there were from 65 to 70 present, and requests already made for this year's banquet indicate that this one will be "bigger and better."

The ex-student association of Canyon High includes all people who have attended C. H. S. and not merely those who have graduated. This association was motivated by the desire of the ex-students to meet again the old friends of yesterday and discuss the incidents of bygone days.

In an interview Tuesday, Mr. Carruth said:

"I think this a wonderful opportunity for the ex-students to get together and keep in touch with their high school alma mater.

"Every ex-student is expected to attend regardless of whether he receives an invitation or not, since it will be impossible to find the address of every person.

"I sincerely hope that many of the older people will attend the banquet and make it a real ex-student affair.

"When making a reservation we would like for each person to designate the class to which he or she belongs.

"Don't forget your Canyon High School days."

The man who can't afford a new auto this year can console himself with the thought that next year's models will have a lot of improvements on them.

Fire Preventiotn Is Theme of Mr. Thompson's Talk

Mr. T. C. Thompson addressed the students of Canyon Thursday on the importance of fire prevention. Every year during fire week the causes and results of fires are brought to the minds of the pupils so that they might help prevent the terrible waste in the United States yearly.

In this talk Mr. Thompson cautioned the students against carelessness which is known as one of the major causes of fires. In closing he urged the students to be more careful in using fire and thus aid our country in lessening its enormous fire loss.

Chapel

In chapel, October 6, the Dramatic Club presented one of Holebrook's plays entitled "Household Hints." The characters were as follows:

Aunt Eulalie—Maxine Middleton.
Beaulah Frumple—Rosa Cash.
George Frumple—Dale Bowman.
Otis Tweet—George Schmitz.

This play was selected and directed by Miss Doris Loudder.

The play, being a laugh from beginning to end, was enjoyed by everyone.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

As a continuation of the physical education inaugurated last year, Canyon High School has provided four classes under the supervision of Miss Goodrich and Coach Brady. These classes take regular exercises which build up the body and give the required recreation.

Both physical education classes have been playing interesting games as part of their program. The girls have been learning to play baseball and doing floor work.

The boys' classes have been playing football. This gives every boy a chance on the football field whether he makes the team or not.

Plainview Hands Canyon Eagles First Defeat

For the first time this season the Canyon Eagles were defeated in a battle with the strong class A team, the Plainview Bulldogs. The Eagles outplayed Plainview in the first half, but they were unable to stop the long runs of the Bulldogs in the last half. The score was 19-0. The first downs were even, with 10 and 10, and the yards gained from scrimmage were about even.

The first half looked like a game for the Eagles. They got seven first downs to Plainview's two and outplayed them in every department. Plainview did not threaten the Eagles' goal but the Canyonites got to the Bulldog's six yard line once, and failed to put it over.

The Bulldogs rallied in the third and got almost to the Eagle's line. Hamilton passed to Walker, the Bulldog speedy end, for the first touchdown. They got two counters in the fourth quarter, one on a pass and the other on a ten-yard end run. They got one extra point by bucking the ball over.

Although this was only a practice game, it gave a good chance to the other teams of the district to get a line-up on the strength of the two teams.

Boys will be boys—but the girls are giving them a hot race for the privilege.

This is the day of specialization. The student of today is the business man of tomorrow. Since this is the case, it is detriment to the student if he does not begin to seek out his vocation while in high school.

The modern business world requires much more training than formerly. To become a doctor requires four years of elementary work and eight years of college work.

In the times of our fathers and grandfathers a boy began to do a man's work and to support himself at the age of sixteen. Now a person preparing for the medical world is ready for his profession at the age of twenty-six.

Likewise this is true of many other professions. If a student waits until he has finished a profession he has wasted four years of valuable time that could have been spent on preparation for whatever vocation he chooses to follow. The best and wisest policy is to decide in high school on some form of work one likes best and fit himself for that.

"CONOCO PLEASE"
"I've Tried 'em all, but I use CONOCO GAS"
Most men change their fuel as often as they change their shaving soap. To those not familar with the facts it would be surprising to know how many eventually settle down to Conoco. Still it's not so astonishing when upkeep cost is considered, for, Conoco, being a drier gas, accomplishes a faster, smoother pick-up. It leaves less of that sinister substance called carbon which is the cause of three out of five engine repairs. And only those who have had those repairs can tell how costly they can be.
Try Conoco and see for yourself that it will cut the operating cost of your automobile.

IS YOUR GAS EQUIPMENT READY FOR THE WINTER?

Summer is nearing its close and crisp evenings soon will begin to give warning of winter's approach.

The efficiency and economy of your gas-burning equipment will have much to do with your winter comfort and peace of mind.

Have you taken any steps to correct defects that appeared last winter? Is your furnace of the proper size and type? Are your burners of an efficient type and are they in proper adjustment?

Is your water heater in the bathroom, and if so, does it have a flue to carry away dangerous fumes that might result from an improperly adjusted burner or from a flame turned too high against a cold surface?

Or perhaps you are planning a new home. Do you know what type and size of furnace will give service with efficiency and economy? Do you know where the hot and cold air ducts or the radiators should be located, or what size they should be?

These are only a few of the heating problems which the Service Department is prepared to help you solve—and without cost to you. The department is manned by experts in gas appliances and their adjustment.

If you have a gas problem, get in touch with the Service Department.

Money Damaged, Burnt or Digested Is Redeemed by Treasury Division

Now that cool weather has returned, a lot of money—real, honest-to-Jehoshaphat currency—will go up in smoke.

But there is one consolation for those who discover after they have set fires in stoves and furnaces that they forgot to take out the money they hid in them last spring.

If any part of the damaged money can be reclaimed, it can be sent to the Redemption of Money Division of the Treasury Department at Washington, D. C., and the loser may be surprised to receive new, crisp bills in exchange.

For no matter if the money has been burned, chewed to bits by mice, shredded or decayed by the elements, if there's enough left of it to convince the experts at Washington that it was genuine, it will be redeemed.

The division receives envelopes and packages containing money in all stages of dissolution—even pulped and digested money—from all parts of the country.

Recently a trained goat belonging to a storekeeper in the west swallowed $35 before his startled master could stop him. The goat, though educated, was worth less than the contents of his stomach. So it was killed. Its digestive tract, in a tin can, was sent to the treasury. A day's boiling produced the fragments, and the jubilant owner recovered his $35.

Two women handle a rather considerable amount of work involved in the identification and redemption of damaged money in the division offices. They are Bertha O. Sherfy and Catherine Costigan. Miss Costigan, though officially designated as a "special money counter," is unofficially rated as "a currency expert of the treasury." Since 1914 she has been redeeming damaged money

Previously, she learned the processes in the manufacture of currency in the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, and for some years served as a money counter.

Unusual cases pop up frequently. For instance, Miss Costigan is now working on a batch of old currency that was sent in by a southern colored boy who said he had found the money under some logs while he was chopping wood. The condition of the bills indicated that they had been exposed to the elements for years. If Miss Costigan succeeds in piecing the notes together and identifying them as genuine, and finding what bank issued them, the little colored fellow will be rich to the extent of more than $1000.

The Redemption of Money Division receives from five to twenty cases daily. Each season of the year brings in its own particular type of damaged money. In the spring money is discovered in spring housecleaning and plowing. In the summer it is found under logs in the woods, or turned up by cultivators. Later comes the fall flood of partly burned currency—hidden last spring in cookstoves or stovepipes.

PAYING THE PRICE

It may be true that military men favor the maintenance of larger armies and navies than the average civilian deems necessary. But that they want war is not true. No class is more opposed to war than those who must inevitably take part in it when it comes. Particularly is this true of those who have experienced the horrors of war.

But military men who have seen the slaughter of untrained or partially trained troops are naturally believers in adequate measures of preparedness. As a rule they have little faith in the idea that war is a thing of the past.

At the same time they realize that public sentiment is against a large regular military establishment and content themselves with making the best preparations possible with the means Congress provides. Their attitude is well expressed by Major General Charles P. Summerall, who said:

"We have never fought a war with trained and equipped troops, and we never shall do so. It is inconsistent with the form of our government and the psychology of our people to maintain adequate military preparedness. They would rather pay the price that has followed every war than spend a part of the amount in preserving peace."

Use Economical Fireproof
Gypsum Board

It comes in broad, high sheets of gypsum between tough papers—saws and nails like lumber, and doesn't crack, warp or buckle. Ideal for decorations—the joints conceal perfectly.

Also vermin-free, a good insulator, and is permanent. Quickly applied—saves labor and muss.

For your partitions, sheathing, and at other points in your new structure or remodeling, wallboard of gypsum may be a real economy.

But if lumber, plaster, or other materials will do the job better, we'll tell you—for we have them all!

BUFFS PLAY DANIEL BAKER FRIDAY NIGHT

Buffaloes Out to Trample 1930 Nemesis; First Conference Game

Working on plays calculated to neutralize the onslaught of the powerful Daniel Baker Hill Billies the Buffs are diligently preparing for the Brownwood club's invasion of the Buffalo range for a night football game Friday, October 16.

This will be the next game for the Buffs; no game having been scheduled for last week end. No casualties were reported from the Edmond, Oklahoma game, and all members of the team are hard at work making ready for the first conference game.

Last year the Billies and Buffs played a scoreless tie in a sea of mud. This was the only blot on the conference record of the Buffaloes, and both teams are keyed to a high pitch in an effort to start their conference championship campaigns with a win. A loss for either team will practically put them out of the running for this year.

Visitors Have Strong Team

The Billies are stronger than usual this year. They started the season with 18 letter men and 18 reserves from last year's squad. The Buffs have only nine letter men and 10 reserves from last year's squad.

The Hill Billies have played three games, losing 6 to 0 to Simmons University, winning by a comfortable score from their Freshmen, and defeating Schreiner Institute 12 to 9. They played Howard Payne Friday night.

The Buffs have defeated Panhandle A. & M. 45-0, lost to Texas Tech 21 to 0, and took the long end of a 6 to 0 score at Edmond, Oklahoma last Saturday.

It seems that the Buffs are gaining power as they go and are due for a good season despite the fact that they are under the freshman rule for the first time and have only 28 eligible men out for the Varsity squad. That they are not outclassed, however, is proved by the following highlights of the Buff victory over the powerful Edmond Broncos last week by the score of 6-0:

1. The Buffs threw seven forward passes, and six were completed.
2. Only three gains of importance were made against the Buffs by running plays, they were spinners through the left side.
3. Coach Claude Reeds, of the Edmond Broncos and former Buff coach, declared the Buff line the equal of any college line that he has seen.
4. The Buffs carried the ball to scoring position four times and failed to buck it over.
5. The Broncos threatened only once, when a completed pass put the ball on the five yard line and the Buffs stopped the thrusts of the plugging Bronco backs.

Article By Dr. Hill Appears in October Outlook

An article containing a vivid description of the Panhandle of Tex as by Dr. J. A. Hill has appeared in the Texas Outlook for October.

The main purpose of the article is to give reasons why the teachers of Texas should attend en masse the annual meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association Thanksgiving week. The benefits to teachers from South and East Texas who attend is especially emphasized. It is pointed out that they will get a new idea of the immensity of their state, the variety of its climate, the quality of its people, and the number, nature, and progress of its institutions. These are only a few of the reasons mentioned in the article. Many points of interest are listed, among them the fact that just "twenty-five minutes from Amarillo, on a paved highway, in the little city of Canyon is the West Texas State Teachers College." Dr. Hill also names the other colleges in the territory and states that they all join with Amarillo in extending a cordial invitation to the teachers of Texas.

Joe B. Gamble has returned from a visit in Iowa. Mrs. Gamble is remaining with her mother for a month.

Mrs. C. L. Tanner returned on Tuesday from Dallas where she joined her husband last Friday in attending the Dallas Fair. Mr. Tanner is now engaged in business in Tyler.

Darris Cheyne of Hobbs, N. M., spent the week end with his wife, who at present is in Amarillo and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cheyne.

Ex-Students Banquet To Feature State Teachers' Meet

One of the most interesting features of the State Teachers Convention to be held in Amarillo Thanksgiving week is the annual banquet for ex-students of W. T. The banquet is to be given from 6:15 to 8:00 Friday evening, November 27 in the Crystal Ballroom of the Herring Hotel. A price of $1.50 per plate is being charged. Reservations may be made with Miss Edna Graham, chairman of the banquet, or with Wallace R. Clark, W. E. Lockhart, Marian Normington, Miltia Hill, or Mrs. Wallace O'Keefe on the mezzanine floor of the Herring Hotel. The committee has arranged the following program for the banquet:

Toastmaster—Felix Phillips, Ward Principal in Amarillo.

Welcome to Ex-Students—J. A. Hill.

Response to Welcome—Corrine Nash, superintendent of Intermediate grades in Waco, Texas.

Special dance—Girls from W. T.

Address—William John Cooper, U. S. Commissioner of Education.

Song—Bill Dawes.

Song, "Alma Mater"—Guests.

This promises to be the best ex-student banquet in years, and all ex-students are urged to come and are cordially invited to bring their friends. W. T. ex-students are to play a large part in the convention, and the ex-student banquet is expected to climax their activities. Hundreds of exes should be among the guests at the convention, and the majority of these are expected to attend the banquet.

Osgoods Give Over Hundred Books To Children's Library

W. T. library recently became the owner of a valuable collection of over 100 books donated by L. A. Osgood, founder of the rental collection shelf of this library, and the Robert Manning Osgood Shelf of the Children's Library.

Three books of fiction "Why Murder the Judge," Hammock, "The Adventures of Blackshirt," Graeme, and "The Mysterious Mr. Quinn," Christie, were donated to the rental collection. "Private School Teachers—1930," "Psychology of Religious Expression," by Halliday, and "Teaching of English," by Cox were donated to the general library.

A set of musical encyclopedias head the list donated to the memorial shelf of the Children's Library. This set includes books on great composers, religious music, vocal music and musicians, opera, and a history of music. Eight art books for use in the grades have been added to the same shelf. These books include a short history of art, and text books of art education. Four books of fiction were also added to the memorial shelf: "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," Wiggin. "Ramona," Jackson, "The Bantam's Down to Date," Joseph Shakespeare, and "The Call of the Wild," London.

FROSH LOSE TO PAMPA HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

Morgan Gets Lone Goal For Freshmen; Final Score is 33-7

The Freshman grid eleven of West Texas State Teachers College, under the tutelage of Coach Mitchell Jones, went down in defeat at the hands of the Mighty Pampa Harvesters on Buffalo Field Friday night, October 9, before four thousand roaring fans. The Frosh happen to be the only team that has crossed Pampa's goal line this season.

A raging Harvester from the Oil City by the name of Chastain led his teammates to victory scoring four of the five counters made by the visitors and kicking goal for three extra points after touchdowns out of five attempts.

The Harvesters started slowly, scoring only one counter during the first quarter. In the second stanza they tallied twice. With several second stringers in the lineup, the Harvesters scored six points in each of the remaining rounds. Hill, Harvseter fullback scored the first touchdown for the visitors.

Morgan Scores

Morgan, Freshman end, scored for the Freshmen in the last quarter. Several of the Frosh showed up well in the game. Walker, Fish tackle, doing superb defensive playing. Colvin, Freshman captain also showed up well by making several nice runs and snagging passes.

Perhaps, the best play of the game was pulled when the Freshmen, instead of kicking after the touchdown, faked and passed over the goal line. Another feature was the excellent punting by Phillips, Freshman tackle from Big Spring.

The contesting teams were coached by former teammates on the Buffalo squad of W. T. back in '22 and '23. Odus Mitchell, the Pampa coach, is said to be one of the best coaches in the Panhandle.

The starting lineup:

W. T.	Pos.	Harvesters
Cabe, J	L. E.	Moore
Higgins	L. T.	Burch
Broadhurst	L. G.	Pafford
Boyd	C.	Poe
Campbll	R. G.	Berry
Covington	R. T.	Freeman
Morgan	R. E.	Kelly
Davis	Q.	Ragsdale
Teague	R. H.	Turner
Cabe, R.	L. H.	Chastain
Colvin	F.	Hill

Officials: Vaughn (Simmons), referee; Honey (T. C. U.), Umpire; and Jackson (T. C. U.) head linesman.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Eckhardt left Monday after a short visit in the parental C. N. Harrison home. They have spent the past year in San Francisco where Mr. Eckhardt played with the Mission baseball club, and they plan to spend the winter in Austin or on the coast.

Citizens Meet

well, an attorney of Lubbock, to make a thorough investigation of any possible plan that might be undertaken to fight utilities rates, especially gas rates. On Sept. 25 he reported to President Leon Goodman as follows:

Lawyer States the Case.

"Replying to your verbal request for an opinion with reference to litigation to compel West Texas Gas Company and associated companies to reduce price of gas to consumers, please note:

"As I understand it, you have had for consideration, complete statement from the company showing original cost and original investment following the matter from the well to the consumer, and that this statement is such that the earnings of the companies under present rates, after recent reduction, leaves nothing for the common stockholders of the company.

"You are advised that the statutes permit this utility to make a named percentage on its investment, and that under the above statement it is not only not making the named percentage on the investment but is making nothing on the general investment.

"On that account, if you accept as correct, the sworn statements which you have, a law suit to compel further reduction would not avail you anything, and I would not advise the suit for that purpose under that consideration.

In the event that you and the associated cities are not satisfied with the statements which you have received and considered from the gas company, the next step would be to investigate by bill of discovery or otherwise the correctness of the statements rendered to you. To do this it would be necessary to have consulting engineers and auditors, and it would be useless to begin this without a large sum of money for that purpose. I would say that as much as ten thousand dollars ought to be gotten together for that purpose before undertaking that sort of work.

"Of course, you would be taking the risk in that event of finding the conditions just as in the present statements rendered to you by the gas company. If so, the money spent on investigation would be totally lost.

"Taking into consideration the fact that the income of the company under existing conditions is probably less now than when the statement was made, and owing to conditions, is likely to become less, it seems to me to be scarcely advisable to undertake further investigation, and under the showing now made, I would certainly not advise the litigation."

Goodman Advises No Action

Mr. Goodman advised city members of the West Texas Municipal Association that unless there is a demand on the part of the members, that no further action will be taken until the engineers of the railroad commission have an opportunity to study the rates.

The proposal for a suit in Lubbock has been made since the report was sent to the city members, and it is therefore taken that Lubbock city officials believe that legal action is necessary.

Business men advised the city officials of Canyon that further action should be postponed until the Lubbock case is disposed of, as should Lubbock win its suit, the rates would probably apply to all consumers in this territory.

Early History Recalled

Futher history as discussed by the business men brought out the fact that Canyon was the last town on the South Plains to give a franchise to the gas company, and it was only given by the commission after strong protests had been filed by the citizens against further delay. The city of Canyon felt that this town should have a lower rate for gas, being much closer to the field than any of the others and held out for months for a reduction. Citizens protested the delay in granting the franchise, and finally this was granted. At that time C. H. Jarrett was mayor with T. C. Thompson and Wallace R. Clark commissioners, and they recall the protests made by the people of Canyon because they held off so long for a lower rate.

Citizens Oppose Waste of Money

In view of all the information that was presented Thursday night every citizen present advised the city officials to be cautious and not waste a lot of the city's money in lawsuits which would avail the citizens nothing.
